

WELCOME TO CONNELLSVILLE

A city rich in history, Connellsville is home to about 9,500 people along the banks of the Youghiogheny. Founded in 1806 by Zachariah Connell, Connellsville became the first city in Fayette County in 1908 when it was unified with New Haven.

During the coke and coal days, Connellsville was believed to have had more millionaires per capita than any other place in the country, possibly the world. This was when Connellsville was king of coal and coke, with beehive ovens lighting up the hillsides. Railroads crisscrossed the city; streetcars connected neighborhoods and towns. Connellsville's population was estimated at more than 22,000 in 1909.

Although not a capital of industry anymore, the city's once great legacy can still be seen in beautiful churches, buildings and houses.

In the early 1990s, the Western Maryland and the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroads that ran through town were converted to the Great Allegheny Passage hike and bike trail.

Connellsville is the birthplace of two great sports heroes. Johnny Woodruff graduated from Connellsville High School in 1935. He was chosen for the 1936 USA Olympic track team in Berlin, Germany where he won a Gold Medal in the 800-meter run.

Johnny Lujack was a football star at Connellsville High School, graduating in 1942. He then went to Notre Dame, starred as quarterback, and won the Heisman Trophy as the best collegiate football player in America in 1947. Lujack also played three seasons in the NFL for the Chicago Bears.
