

Volunteers needed for Pennsylvania River Sweep

Posted: Sunday, June 3, 2012 12:00 am

Volunteers are needed to help clean up the Ohio River and other area rivers and streams at the Pennsylvania River Sweep.

From 8:30 a.m. to noon June 16, volunteers will work at about 21 cleanup sites in Allegheny, Armstrong, Beaver, Washington and Westmoreland counties.

Locally, the Ohio River Trail Council is urging its members and others to help along the shoreline of the Ohio River and its tributaries.

Three Beaver County sites -- in Monaca at Pumphouse Park, in New Brighton at Blockhouse Run near the sewage treatment plant entrance, and in Shippingport at the boat dock area off Ferry Road -- have been selected. Several county sites may be added this week, said Betsy Mallison, the Pennsylvania River Sweep coordinator.

Allegheny County sweep sites include the Groveton Boat Club near Coraopolis, the Glenwillard Boat Club, the Kilbuck Township Fish and Boat Commission boat ramp, and the Leetsdale Fish and Boat Commission boat ramp.

Volunteers should arrive at 8:30 a.m. with a signed waiver to participate. Waiver forms and river sweep locations are available on the Ohio River Valley Sanitation Commission site at ORSANCO.org/River Sweep.

Volunteers also should bring gloves and wear heavy-soled shoes and jeans.
