

The Ohio River Trail has the potential to serve as the critical missing-link that connects numerous existing or planned trails in two states.